Bug Buddies	Fluttering Birds	Playing with Polymers	Hello Color	Walloping Weather
Get up close and personal with creepy, crawly bugs! Your preschoolers will learn how to tell the difference between bugs and insects, and how to answer questions like "how many legs does an insect have?" and "are all bugs pests?" The kids will even get to make a bug buddy to take home - don't worry it's not alive!	Your kids' imaginations will soar as they learn about birds' nests, eggs, feathers, and flight. They'll learn first-hand how birds eat by using tools that simulate different types of beaks. They'll see pictures, hear calls and learn the names of the feathered friends that live all around us. This class is not for the birds!	Giant molecule chains called polymers are vital to everyday life; and they can be lots of fun for kids. In this stretchy, slimy class, we will explore, create and play with the most entertaining and useful molecule known to science, and discover its many shapes and forms.	In this colorful class, we will introduce your preschoolers to the exciting world of color using chemical reactions and lots of rainbows! Your children will have fun mixing colors and making a rainbow butterfly to take home.	Whether you're young or old, you know that the weather is important to everyday life. This class is an introduction to the science behind the weather. Your kids will begin to understand how temperature, water, and wind affect weather patterns. They'll get to make their very own "wind-socks" so they can check the direction of the wind at home.
